

Variance flattening: synthetic populations are less varied than real ones

